The Second Sunday of Lent

The First Reading gives us Abram as a wonderful example of someone who puts his complete trust in God and obeys God's will. May our faith, this Lent and always, mimic that of Abraham.

The Gospel recalls the transfiguration of Jesus. How many of us can identify with Peter? We mean to do and say the right thing yet sometimes we don't think before saying or doing. In that moment, like in the moment he outwardly prayed that no harm come to Jesus and was rebuked, Peter shows himself as the most human of the disciples. It just goes to prove that God calls not the qualified but qualifies the called, for Peter became the first leader of the Church.
